Association of Women In Agriculture Benefit Corporation

Dear AWA Sister or Friend of AWA,

Please consider being part of our 250+ member organization and helping us live up to our mission of offering women personal and professional growth by fostering networking, developing life skills, building relationships and advancing agriculture. I'd love to share more with you about AWABC and how you can continue to grow personally and professionally.

"As we move in and out of the work force, in and out of the industry, our continued AWA contacts and involvement help us maintain our knowledge, contacts and friends. Both my career and my personal life are so much richer because of my AWA involvement and support." - Valerie Johnson

Being involved in committees and the corporation board has given me opportunities to learn skills that I don't use regularly in my day job. Since I work outside of agriculture, I appreciate being connected to the women and the mission of AWA. My employer benefits from this "outside" perspective because I have a more diverse skill set than some of my coworkers. AWA alumni are my mentors, have served as job references and are some of my close friends." - Krista Knigge
